

You will be doing a great service to our children, who are our future, by reducing the amount of violence on television. The FCC must intercede in this matter since the profit motive of the television industry inhibits their ability to regulate themselves. The harmful effects of continued exposure to violent programming are well documented. It's time to act!